

London Play is to contribute ideas for practical policies to ensure that British kids enjoy a fit and healthy childhood via a new all party parliamentary group.

The new APPG (All Party Parliamentary Group on Play), chaired by Baroness (Floella) Benjamin of Beckenham, has been convened to "develop practical policies to reduce the scale of childhood obesity in the UK." London Play is one of the organisations which has been invited to join the group, which has its first meeting in February.

Click here for more information http://www.londonplay.org.uk/blog_entry/2517/news/london_play_press_releases/london_play_press_releases/fit_and_healthy_childhoods

Or click here for their home page

<http://www.londonplay.org.uk/>